FOREWORD

The invitation of the Central States Numismatic Society to conduct the 1954 Convention Auction Sale was welcomed by the Gallery as another opportunity to serve its many friends in the Central States area.

The two public sessions offer a variety of coins and paper money of the United States and many foreign countries. An unusual listing of Canadian paper money is also featured.

1954 promises to be a big numismatic year for the Gallery. This Convention Auction is, of course, one of the year's attractions; the exhibition promises to be outstanding; and we hope to have our bourse stocked with gems from the Farouk Collection personally selected by your cataloguer. We hope that 1954 will be an equally big year for you.

We are appreciative for consignments from Messrs. E. H. Pigeon and Jack Hecht of San Francisco, Dr. H. J. Law, of Lakewood, Ohio, Mr. Bud Abbott, of Encino, California, Mr. E. J. Hayes, of Chicago, Illinois, The Estate of Talton Craig, Canoga Park, California, The Krachey Estate, Los Angeles, and several others who prefer to remain anonymous.

Thanks, too, to the officers and members of the Milwaukee Coin Club, and the Central States Numismatic Society, for their many favors.

A. KOSOFF.

CANADIAN BANKNOTES

(The history of Banking and Bank Notes in Canada is similar, in many respects, to that of the United States. With the immigration from the old country came a need for paper money as a medium of exchange. Private and chartered banks handled deposits and issued bank notes and drafts. Many irresponsible private bankers circulated paper until July 1, 1837, when it became a misdemeanor to do so without authorization.

The Currency Act of 1830 forbade the issue of notes of a value less than one pound. Several private firms then issued their demand drafts for smaller amounts drawn upon the bank in favor of the teller, who endorsed them. In appearance these drafts were like bank notes and were generally acceptable.

The depression of 1837 saw the end of practically all normal banking operations. When the two Canadas were united, Lord Sydenham, as the first Governor, urged a Government bank. The champions of the chartered banks prevailed, however, and the new regulations of 1841 left the circulation privileges in their hands. All banks issuing notes had to be chartered by the Government, had to have an approved fixed capital paid up before business commenced. Shareholders double liability was adopted.

Spurious banks issuing fraudulent notes during the 1837 crisis flourished because specie payment had been suspended. Resumption of such payment in 1839 left a quantity of this worthless paper in the hands of the final holders—chiefly American citizens.

A prosperous period between 1850 and 1867 caused the granting of a number of new charters. Unit banking was introduced in 1850 but could hardly be termed successful. Confederation came in 1867 and gave new impetus to development and created a need for more banks. While the United States had passed the National Banking Act its neighbor was arguing over who should control the supply of note circulation, the Government or the banks. The Bank Act of 1871 committed all Canada to the issue of notes by the banks. So carefully protected were these notes that no holder has suffered a loss by failure of a Canadian Chartered Bank since 1881. There were several failures, however, in 1874 and 1876. Gradual consolidation, some failures, a few dissolutions, and the war of 1914-1918 resulted in a reduction of operating banks to 10. Finally, in 1934, the Bank of Canada was formed. It provided that, as of December 31, 1949, the Chartered Banks were to pay over to the Bank of Canada the balances outstanding in their note circulation accounts and the Government owned bank became liable.

The Cataloguer has sought in vain to obtain a listing of the persons depicted on the Canadian Bank Notes.)

1189—IMMUNE COLUMBIA, 1785, Cent. Liberty seated on cube left, holding scales and liberty staff/Eye in glory of rays intersected by 13 stars. NOVA CONSTELLATIO. Plain edge. This is the extremely rare variety with an extra star in the field. It is very fine. Estimated value $300.00.

1190—FUGIO CENT, 1787, in Silver. UNITED STATES. very fine, rare. $50.00.

1191—WASHINGTON HALF DOLLAR in copper, 1792. Bust l. G. WASHINGTON. PRESIDENT. l. 1792/spread eagle, 15 stars around head, olive branch and arrows in talons. UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. One of the most beautiful examples of this rarity I have seen. There is a small edge dent left of the tail on reverse which in no way detracts from the splendor of this coin. It is from the Clapp-Clarke-Friedman Collections.

1192—(1792) Cent. Washington in uniform, left. GEO. WASHINGTON BORN VIRGINIA FEB. 11, 1732. Inscription in 10 lines, GENERAL / OF THE / AMERICAN ARMIES / 1775 / RESIGNED / 1788 / PRESIDENT / OF THE / UNITED STATES / 1789. Edge dent. This extremely fine specimen is very unusual for ordinarily this cent is seen with much of the reverse lettering entirely worn. It is the finest I have seen and worth about $250.00.

1193—HALFPENNY 1795. Washington bust r. GEORGE WASHINGTON Eagle on shield, holding branch and arrows in talons. LIBERTY AND SECURITY 1795. Edge lettered AN ASYLUM FOR THE OPPRESSED OF ALL NATIONS. A superb uncirculated example from the Clapp-T. J. Clarke-Friedman Collections. Only 2 pieces said to be known with this edge inscription. Crosby (P. 361 fig. 103) knew of only one. $200.00.

Money Talks

A. Kosoff

WELL, HERE IT IS. 1954—and this AK becomes a 25 year man in professional numismatics.

NEW YORK'S JEWELRY Center in 1929 seems a long way back but the years have been good to us.

COINS WERE A GOOD investment, they told us then, but few had the money for investment—in 1929.

SIX WEEKS AFTER my introduction to the business came the Wall Street Crash that was felt 'round the world. I've been blamed for a lot of things but that wasn't my fault.

TOM ELDER AND the Chapmans were the Auction Centers of the East with Wayte Raymond running big special sales and of course, B. Max Mehl already past his 25th year at that time (in business, I mean—not his age!)

ENTIRE CAPITAL put into minor proofs to start an inventory. Sold 1885 proof nickels for 50 cents. Grant Star halves were about $4.50 and on 1856 flying eagle cent brought $20. They certainly were good investments.

STILL GOOD, I BELIEVE, because so many more collectors are seeking the same coins. The law of supply and demand will never be repealed.

PROFITS AND THRILLS from numismatics have accumulated during the 25 years. Often wander what happened ta some of the profits but the thrills have lingered on.

THE THRILL OF THE first mail order—sold 1871 proof cents for peanuts—and the first BIG deal, a $215 check for an eagle. Yes, I remember the buyer—he was angry because I waited for his check to clear. I guess an A-1 Dun and Bradstreet rating should have been enough.

THE FIRST AUCTION — and so many succeeding ones. First Conventions—so many firsts all added up to make these 25 years the easiest.

AUGUST ACTUALLY WINDS UP the quarter century. Hope to greet many of you in Cleveland that month for the big ANA CONVENTION.

A MOMENT'S MEDITATION brings to mind those who are no longer with us. Perhaps they have since found the rare date or mint-mark which was not obtainable on Earth.

NOW ON TO GREENER pastures —and if it be ordained, to another 25 years in a vocation that brings grand people together — and keeps them young enough to remember and to enjoy the thrills of yesterday.

MAY WE HOLD those friends of long standing and grow richer by making new ones.
